The Stage is Proud to Announce The 'Actathon' a 48 Hour Short Play Festival

Tel Aviv, Israel – October 2018 – The Stage, Tel Aviv's Premier English-Language Performing Arts Organization, is excited to announce that one of the winning projects of the 'Run-Your-Own-Project' Contest, the 48 Hour Short Play Festival, is happening 11th till 13th of October.

Actathon - like hackathon for performing arts - a 48 Hour Short Play Festival is a community based production by The Stage. It is one of the winning projects of 'Run-your-own-project' video contest #TheStageIsYours that The Stage has been running earlier this year. Target of this contest was to get individuals involved, who have passion for performing arts and most importantly are excited to take initiative.

Yoni Fleischmann handed in his idea of the 48 Hour Short Play Festival and after winning the contests built a team around him to make this unique event happen in which seven original plays in English will be written, rehearsed, and performed in the span of only 48 hours.

Participants need to be available from 8pm on 11th of October till 10pm on 13th of October. There is no participation fee. For this community project professional and non-professional writers, actors, directors and producers alike are welcome to participate. Volunteers helping on the organizational side will be needed to make this project a success.
